

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transmitter is capable of avoiding increasing of a circuit size and current consumption. The transmitter assembly includes a pre-distortion type linearizer correcting 5 to mutually cancel a distortion component caused in a transmission signal and a correction data component. The transmitter assembly also includes first storage means for preliminarily storing the correction data.